Silver in Ancient Greece.

How Solon Debased the Currency without Good Effect.

An intelligent correspondent sends us this timely illustration of the working of economic laws which are as old as society:

"History repeats itself because mankind is the same." Plutarch, in his life of Solon, tells us that "the Athenians, now the Cylonian sedition was over, fell into their old quarrels about the government, there being as many different parties as there were diversities in the country. The Hill quarter favored democracy, the Plain, oligarchy, and those that lived by the seaside stood for a mixed sort of government, and so hindered either of the parties from prevailing. And the disparity of fortune between the rich and poor at that time also reached its height. The great debtor or labor party then became most formidable, and combined to divide the lands and change the government."

It is reported that Solon, "to save his country put up a trick on both parties, and privately promised the poor a division of the lands, and the rich security for their debts." Solon obtained supreme authority. What followed is most concisely told in Pylle's history.

The great misery of the people was debt. The farmers had borrowed money at very high interest from the wealthy, giving their farms in pledge for the payment of the debt. At the boundary of every farm so mortgaged pillars were set as a witness, the amount of the debt and the name of the lender cut upon them. The debt grew greater and greater every year from the heavy interest; the farmer lost all hope of ever being able to pay, and was now like a laborer on the farm which had once been really his own. The debtor was a still worse case. To save the State, Solon was compelled to take very strong measures. He ordered that silver coins called drachmas should be made of lighter weight, so that 100 new ones should be worth only 75 old ones, and that the new drachmas should be accepted as though they were equal to the old ones, in payment of debts. Farmers who owed money to the State were freed from their debts altogether, and made a fresh start. These suggestions did great good to the farmers; and Solon's poem tells us how the mortgage-pillars disappeared from the country. But Plutarch tells us that in this Solon "pleased neither party, for the rich were angry for their money, and the poor that the land was not divided." And in another place Plutarch says: "When he (Solon) was afterward asked if he had left the Athenians the best laws that could be given, he replied: 'The best they could receive.'" The way which the moderns have of softening the badness of a thing by ingeniously giving it some pretty and innocent appellation, seems originally to have been Solon's contrivance, who called cancelling debts lusathes, a relief or disincumbrance.

Many silver swindlers seem to think their scheme a brain new American invention.

The debasement of the currency—whether by reducing the weight of coins or by introducing a depreciated metal as money—will turn out to be as bad policy in the time of Jones and Bland as it was in the time of Solon.—N. Y. Evening Post.

RUMORS OF A SIX WEEKS' ARMISTICE.—London, Jan 10.—The correspondent of the Manchester Guardian telegraph that he believes a six weeks' armistice has been already agreed upon, on a basis of uti possidetis. A dispatch from Constantinople mentions that a similar report is current there and that military operations are ordered suspended from 10 o'clock Tuesday night; but the correspondent points out that these rumors are necessarily premature, since the military representatives of the belligerents to conduct negotiations had not been appointed.

Said Flood to O'Brien, as they partook of their daily bread at the Nevada Restaurant: "William, I observe that that real, real honest Dutchman, Schultz, is still on the streets, apparently unconcerned at all this naughty Woodville, Alta and Justice rumpus." "Yes, James," answered William, "yes, he seems happy and contented with the world, just 'tis." And then William thoughtfully bowed his head over a thimbleful of claret and seltzer; while James slowly and sadly laved with burning liquid the off side of a rum omelet.—Bodie Standard.

THE TURKISH ARMY AT SHIPKA CAPTURED.—St. Petersburg, Jan. 10.—Grand Duke Nicholas has telegraphed the following to the Emperor from Letcha, Jan. 9: "I am happy to congratulate your majesty upon a brilliant victory gained this day. General Rodetzky has, after desperate fighting, captured the whole Turkish army defending the Shipka Pass, consisting of 41 battalions, 10 batteries and one regiment of cavalry. Prince Mirinsky has occupied Kezanlik and General Skobeloff holds Shipka.

FRUIT TREES,

Chandler.

In the New Hampshire State Committee the other night, W. E. Chandler was put upon his defense for his recent exhibition of idiotic propensities towards revelation. It appeared to a majority of the Committee that Chandler had written himself down a villain in order to taint the skirts of Hayes, and then failed. Chandler fought back of course alleging spotless purity upon his own part, a high degree of honesty, and a noble purpose, but failing to explain why he did not reveal himself before the Electoral Commission. And further why his inwardness happened to overpower him just on the eve of a Senatorial election. Chandler regards these points as irrelevant. He is ready to admit that had Hayes obeyed his faction, the said revelations would never have been made, but thinks that now he has assumed the role of a public benefactor, and should be paid for it with the title of M. C. The people took upon Mr. Chandler about as Mr. George Alfred Townsend does in the following letter.

"The most dignified of sensations since Mr. Crawford, the sculptor, made the marble statue of a dog with a tin kettle tied to his tail and a heroic youth taking it off, has been the Chandler letter. Chandler is a frowny youth, and fidgety, with an eye-glass screwed into a frown, and a sort of scaggle-tooth expression, suggesting Captain Marryatt's dog Snarleyow."

A reporter in New York who drives his quill for $6 per week is very much excited by a startling rumor to the effect that $20,000,000 of Bonanza money is to be transported to Wall street. This opulent literateur revels in the particulars of the scheme and has learned that he will soon have an opportunity to speculate in Comstock securities, that being the prime object of the enterprise. The same inky person rubs his hands at the prospect and in the outlook for lively times in Wall street considers his fortune made.

The Stock Report of San Francisco is the latest convert to the theory that mines ought to be exempt. It has become satisfied and does not question any longer, handing in its allegiance as it says "without espousing either side." The Stock Report's attitude is sufficiently determined by its advertising columns without any necessity for editorial expression.

Deacon Parkinson, with that pristine coyness and maidenish modesty which has ever been a central trait in his character, writes from Sacramento about annexation:

It is almost an assured thing that the efforts of your reporter in securing the cession of Alpine and Mono counties to our State will be crowned with success, another proof that the Nevada Tribune is of incalculable benefit to the people of the sagebrush State.

The Eureka Sentinel a short time since proved by a reference to facts and figures that the profit accruing from mining investments was smaller on the Comstock than in any outside camp. This proof is substantial and should induce a change of tone in the San Francisco press. They are now trying diligently to prove the Comstock the only camp, while Eureka, Bodie, Tuscarora, Pyramid and others are equally attractive.

The Sentinel calls attention to the fact that White Pine with 1,200 inhabitants has five State offices, and Western Nevada with three-fourths of the population has but two. A change in geography is in order because these same men all want to be reelected, and the counties from which they originally came want own them.

R. R. Parkinson of the Nevada Tribune is located at the Capital of California, and is drawing pen portraits of the various officers. A thrifty connoisseur is the Deacon.

The Times-Review opposes an extra session, and says the movement was distinctly in the interests of the Bonanza firm.

200,000 sheep driven across the mountains from Tulare County are dead or dying.

The champion time-waster is now Rebecca Moore, who has just finished a quilt containing 20,173 pieces.

Committees.

The Eureka Sentinel publishes the following committee lists:
Democratic State Central Committee: Churchill county, Wm Hill; Douglas, E D Black; Esmeralda, W H Hall; Elko, H C Street; Eureka, J H Dennis; Humboldt, C C Biles; Lincoln, Miles Quillan; Lander, Robt. McBeth; Lyon, J F Angel; Nye, T K Owen; Ormsby, J A St. Clair; Richard Kelly; Washoe, Thomas E Hayden; White Pine, Geo. P McConkey; Storey, W E F Deal; J C Currie, R E Lowery, E B Stonehill.

Republican State Central Committee: Churchill County, G W Stone; Douglas, J W Haines; Esmeralda, W Butler, S B Smith; Elko, J B Moore, E A Littlefield; Eureka, W B Harrub, P P Cannavan; Humboldt, C H Stoddard; Lander, A E Shannon, J A Blossom; Lincoln, S L Lee, E R Clute; Lyon, C B Zabriske, J D Sims; Nye, E P Sine; Storey, H Piper, George A King, C C Batterman, A Doten; Ormsby, G W Bryant, S E Jones; Washoe, W M Boardman, Wm. Thompson; White Pine, H Carpenter, Casper Schmit.

The Governor's letter has settled the question of an extra session, and utterly routed Comptroller Hobart from his position. It is the most convincing State paper that has yet emanated from Mr. Bradley. In this instance, at least, he has proved to be truly economical, instead of parsimonious, and the people of Nevada will eventually thank him for his action.—Gold Hill News.

The gist of the letter appeared in a Gazette editorial of Jan. 9th.

How Mr. Hobart was misled in his estimates will probably forever be a mystery; That Governor Bradley's estimates are sound and based on established facts, no one will deny.—Gold Hill News.

Comment us to the News as the fairest paper in the State. It is in order now for the Appeal to explain that wonderful "indolence and stupidity," which caused its editor to doubt these established facts.

VICTOR EMANUEL DEAD.—The Gold Hill News of last evening contains a telegram from London announcing the death of Victory Emanuel, King of Italy. This event will probably add to the already puzzling complications of the Eastern Question. The dead king was born in 1840. He is succeeded by Prince Humbert, who is in the prime of life, and who is quite as bitterly opposed to Papal rule as his predecessor.

The Carson Tribune says:
The Bonanza people do not want a raise in the stock market until May or June.

An assessment will shortly beclapped onto Ophir to freeze out small holders.

Alta owners are undecided whether they will visit the Paris Exposition or not.

The Carson Appeal thinks that the President has sold himself, body and soul to Tom Scott and the Texas Pacific railroad. The Appeal misstates its editor. Having committed himself to an insane hobby, he would be pleased to have the people think that he thought himself right.

The State Board of Pardons convenes next Tuesday, Jan. 13. Those interested will take notice. We hope that Rover's sentence may be commuted to imprisonment for life.

Henry Ward Beecher's salary has been reduced to $15,000 a year.

The Austin Reville opposes an extra session. So does the Governor.

Soda Water.

These are hard times and temperance drinks are popular. Again there are processes going on every day in our town of which the youth and others are more or less ignorant. Last but not least, a favorite beverage of newspaper men should not be kept a secret from the public. Armed with these feverish thoughts we marched into the soda factory of A. Jose under the Journal building, and communicated to that robust little man our wishes. And thus he detailed to us the process: I have three fountains, each of which will contain 25 gallons. Over the first fountain is a smaller one connected with it by a short pipe. This small fountain we call the acid chamber. The fountains are connected by long arm pipes. Into the first we put water and marble dust, or usually two gallons carbonate of soda, two gallons marble dust (which is carbonate of calcium), and about nine gallons of water. Into the acid chamber we place three gallons of sulphuric acid. By turning the stopcock in the short pipe a portion of the acid passes into the first fountain and, coming in contact with the carbonates of lime and soda, sets free the carbonic acid and forms in the bottom of the hollow cast iron cylinder the salts, calcic and soda sulphates. The carbonic acid is under a strong pressure and passes up through pipes into the washers—two small chambers over fountains 2 and 3. In these chambers, which are filled with pure water, the gas is thoroughly washed, and from thence passes into fountains 2 and 3. These fountains contain about twenty gallons of water each, thus leaving a five-gallon space in each for the carbonic acid. Inside of these fountains are fan-shaped paddles, which are turned by an inside crank with which they are connected. Thus the gas is thoroughly intermingled with the water and subjected to a pressure of about fifty pounds to the square inch. Setting on the Mathew's bottling table is a three-gallon can filled with syrup, flavored as desired. Forming part of the pipe connecting the syrup can with the bottling pipe is a small force pump which lets an exact amount of the syrup out for each bottle of soda or sarsaparilla as the case may be. At the same time the requisite amount of the gas water is turned on and the syrup is at the same time forced into the soda bottle by Mathew's patent process. The glass and rubber stopper drops into place and is forced tight against the neck of the bottle by the gas. The bottle is placed in a box and our soda water or sarsaparilla is ready for market. The charge which we have described is sufficient to make nearly 28 dozen bottles of soda. The bottling is done very rapidly, it taking less time than a minute.

TO-NIGHT.—A Jolly time will be had this evening at Prof. Jacobson's soiree. The Prof. will have three pieces of music, that is music. The Opera House will be open at 8 o'clock and dancing will commence as soon thereafter as the dancers arrive. The admission price for gentlemen and ladies is one dollar. Mr. J. proposes to give a soiree one evening every week, leaving the dancers to determine the night. His parties will no doubt be very pleasant and can easily be made a source of pleasure at little expense. Gentlemen show your appreciation of an excellent musician and fine instruction in dancing by attending his opening party this evening at the Opera House.

DOMINO PARTY.—The Knights of Pythias hold their regular meeting this evening. The question of the Domino party for the 31st inst has been fully settled. The party is to be. The order has on hand about 75 costumes and a number of ladies have their own suits. Therefore there is little use for persons to purchase material and make for themselves a costume when the order has already made full provisions. This party will be an invitation party given by the Knights in past celebration of their third anniversary.

BURGLARY.—The Gold Hill News has particulars of the robbery of Cobb & Place's store in Franktown, yesterday morning. Goods valued at $500 were taken, and in view of the fact that this is the third robbery in that vicinity recently, it might be well for our officers to look the matter up.

These who have long faces to-day hold Alta.

STOCKS.—Stocks tumbled this morning on the streets in San Francisco at a fearful rate. Alta dropped to 7, Ophir 40, and Con. Virginia 19. The regular morning board slightly revived matters and Ophir was quoted at 44, 45, 45 1/4; California 26, 26 1/4; Con. Virginia 21, 21 1/4; Alpha 11 1/4, 11; Justice 9, 9 1/4; Alta 9, 8 1/4, 9 1/4. Several thousand shares of Alta were sold. The fearful drop in Alta has opened the eyes of every one. Some say why should Alta command a better price than Justice; that Alta has poor ore in it, has a worthless title and therefore should return to its old prices; that the stock was known to be poor and that the big fish wanted to unload, and hence bulled the stock market and now it is largely held by outsiders. Others say that the stock was thrown down because a rich body of ore had been discovered and the manipulators wanted to get in the stock and then let it go up on its merits. Whether the deal has been made or whether a second one is to follow, of course but few know. Good or bad, it serves a good gambling stock for the brokers, and furnishes a splendid opportunity for the stock dabbler to lose his hard earnings.

Look out for Tom Norcross. He means business about the new school-house for the Huffaker District. He says that the District has $500 on hand, and, after all the proceeds of next Friday night's party have been counted in, if there yet remains a deficiency of the amount required, he, Lake, Brown Huffaker and others will go down in their pockets and put up the requisite amount. That's our sort of a man. Norcross is a whole community himself. The managers of the affair propose to take us to and from the party and give us a glorious time for $5. They say they have helped our fire department, schools, etc., and now ask us to help them. The reasoning is good, and we recommend those who can to attend this party and help along a good cause.

U. S. G.—Young Ulysses passed through to the Comstock yesterday morning. The Silver State calls him "the young scion who bears the distinguished name of his celebrated sire." We have no such words as those on hand, but may remark that U. S. G. Jr. seems to be a thoughtful young man and has no more personal charms than our local editor.

TO BODIE.—The movement Bodie-wards still continues, freight, passengers and supplies of all kinds lining the road to that thriving camp. Large amounts of lumber are now being forwarded from Carson and Reno. On Sunday last John Boyd's big teams from this place landed 40,000 feet of lumber and a large quantity of shingles at the Camp.

ACCIDENT.—J. S. Foulks of Gold Hill recently met with a severe accident in Bodie. Mr. Foulks fell to the ground while crossing Main street and broke his right leg just above the ankle. We fear that the sufferer is a brother of J. P. Foulks of Verdi. The Standard says the sufferer is doing well.

A Wonderful Well.

The deepest artesian well in the world is now in progress at Pesh, and has already reached a depth of 951 metres (3,118 feet). The well at Paris, which is 547 meters in depth, has hitherto held the first place in such achievements. The work is carried on at the expense of the city, which has granted a sum equal to $40,000 for the purpose, with the intention of obtaining an unlimited supply of warm water for the municipal establishments and the public baths. The water at present issuing has a temperature of 161 degrees Fahrenheit, and the operations will be continued until that of 178 degrees Fahrenheit is obtained. About 175,000 gallons of the liquid stream out daily and rise to the height of 35 feet. This amount will not only supply all the wants of the city, but is expected to convert the surrounding district into a sort of tropical garden, by the constant evolution of heat. Since June last the boring has penetrated through 200 feet of dolomite, and the preceding strata passed through have supplied a number of interesting facts to the geologists, which have been noticed from time to time in the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. The difficulties to be overcome have given rise to many highly ingenious engineering devices, such as a method of driving nails at the enormous depth above mentioned, and, more, a means of drawing them (by means of magnets), of cutting them off and pulling up broken tubes, and, above all, a valuable mechanical apparatus, by means of which the water rising from the well is used as a motive power, driving the drills at a rate of speed double that previously imparted from the mouth of the well.—Chicago Times.

ARIZONA AS SEEN BY A NEVADA COUNTY MAN.—The Nevada Transcript (Cal.) published extracts from a letter written by A. McNeely, a former resident of that place: "I have seen some of Arizona and will endeavor to give you an idea of the God-forsaken country. The Tip Top Company have some splendid mines here, and they are rich in silver. The ore pays from $300 to $500 per ton, and the ledge gets better as it goes down. Everything looks favorable for a permanent mining camp. We are getting along well with the mill buildings, although it will take the contractors some two months more to finish their work. The mill is located on one of the best sights I have ever seen, about six miles from the mine. In coming to Arizona I took the cars to Fort Yuma, then the steamboat to Erenburg, and from there a Government ambulance to Prescott, taking in all twenty-one days' time. It was slow traveling on the boats. They would tie up to the shore every night, and send out an Indian on a mule to hunt for wood and water. Sometimes he found them and sometimes he didn't. If he found neither we laid on a sand-bar the next day. The Indians are not particularly hostile now, although I like to sleep with a Henry rifle in one hand and a six-shooter in the other. This is a beautiful climate to live in. It is harvest time now. If any one has an idea of coming here to romance he will regret it when he gets sober."
